

Nawar Learning Protocol

Original synthetic evaluation document. All names and facts are fictional.

Page 1: Cohort timetable

This protocol describes cohort NAWAR-731 only. It is not a real university policy.

The cohort orientation begins on 17 October 2031.

The weekly study meeting is every Wednesday at 19:20 local time.

Each study meeting lasts exactly 42 minutes.

There are 24 participants in the cohort.

The coordinator uses room Cedar-14 for the weekly meeting.

Students bring a notebook and one blue index card.

Attendance is recorded at the beginning of each meeting.

The curriculum contains five reading units.

No tuition amount, bus timetable, or telephone number is specified in this protocol.

Nawar Learning Protocol

Original synthetic evaluation document. All names and facts are fictional.

Page 2: Assessment rules

The Cedar Note assignment is worth 18 points.

The Cedar Note deadline is day 6 of the unit at 20:10 local time.

The feedback rubric has three components: explanation 45 percent, evidence 35 percent, and reflection 20 percent.

A score below 62 out of 100 requires a practice retry.

The retry contains exactly seven questions.

The learner has three days to submit the retry.

The final reflection is between 90 and 130 words long.

No transportation arrangements or payment details are included.

Nawar Learning Protocol

Original synthetic evaluation document. All names and facts are fictional.

Page 3: Study companion routine

The fictional study companion is called Miro.

Miro starts a review with 12 minutes of silent reading.

The reading is followed by 8 minutes of paired explanation.

The learner then answers three checkpoint questions.

The companion recommends a 4 minute break after the checkpoint.

Each completed checkpoint earns two practice stars.

Stars are practice markers and have no monetary value.

This protocol contains no phone contact and no student transport schedule.